Course Description

This course will evaluate the central issues concerning European security and transatlantic relations since the end of WWII. We will begin by briefly reviewing the history of European conflict and cooperation from 1815 to 1939. We will then examine European security issues during the Cold War, focusing on great power competition, nascent European integration, and decolonization. Following this, we will look at how the Cold War ended and the changes Europe experienced over the next two decades, from democratic revolutions and ethnic conflict in the periphery, to the expansion of NATO. Next, we will examine the formation of the European Union (EU) and EU foreign policy. Finally, we will overview current issues facing the continent, such as the lingering effects of austerity, increasing migration and demographic change, the rise of populism, Brexit, and democratic backsliding.

Learning Objectives

By participating in this course, you will:

- Be able to analyze and evaluate present issues in European integration and foreign relations, identifying the interests at stake and the motivations and constraints of the actors involved.
- Better understand the structure and role of the EU, and its effects on domestic politics within member states.
- Evaluate the central challenges facing Europe in the 21st century.
- Equip yourself with the analytical tools for understanding processes of societal, institutional, and systemic change.
- Enhance your analytical skills and your ability to think critically.

Assignments and Grading

Grades for this course will be based on:

- Participation: 15%
- Midterm Exam (October 9th): 25%
- Paper (Due November 13th): 25%
- Final Exam (Wednesday, November 18th 11-1) 35%

Online Course Logistics

Given the current COVID-19 pandemic, USC has made it clear that classes are to be taught online through Zoom during the Fall 2020 semester. In order to comply with these instructions while accommodating those who may not be able to easily attend courses online due to geographical distance (i.e. time-zones) or illness, I will be recording all lectures and posting them to Blackboard. While I encourage attending the live lecture, if this is not possible, you will still be able to follow along asynchronously.

Accommodations

Any student requesting academic accommodations based on a disability is required to register with Disability Services and Programs (DSP) each semester. A letter of verification for approved accommodations can be obtained from DSP. Please be sure the letter is delivered to me as early in the semester as possible. The phone number for DSP is 213-740-0776. If you need assistance with the process, please contact me.

Academic Honesty

Any student violating USC's Academic Dishonesty or Student Conduct policies will earn an F in the course and will be reported to the appropriate administrators for investigation. You are responsible for reviewing the Trojan Integrity Guide:

- <https://sjacs.usc.edu/students/academic-integrity/>

Course Materials:

All readings will be available on Blackboard. You will not need to purchase any books for this class
